

WILLIAM WYATT BAGSHAWE (1897-99)

Date of Birth	5 March 1882
School Information	Sub Prefect. Drawing prize 1898.
Career Information	He went to Sheffield Technical College and won a prize for drawing. Then he went to the Slade School in London, now UCL. He is listed as exhibiting at the New English Art Club in 1915 with his address given as c/o Schwabe in Cheyne Walk, Chelsea. The NEAC was a radical break away group from the Royal Academy School and based on the Slade graduates.
Date Of Death	1 July 1916
Cause of Death	A letter describes his death - he was in the very first wave attacking Serre, going out at 7.20am. Ten men of 'A' company left the trench early - they must have volunteered - and had to stop in front of the German wire as it had not been cut. They lay down and were picked off one by one by a sniper. At 7.30am the whistles blew and the subsequent waves walked into the dreadful machine gun fire....
Location	Somme, France
Cemetery	Thiepval Memorial, Somme, France
Rank	Private
Branch of Service	York and Lancaster Regiment

The following photo was taken of his name on the Thiepval Memorial

The Thiepval Memorial, Somme, France

We are indebted to Peter Cattrell, his great great nephew, for some of the above information. His grandfather, Benjamin Wyatt Bagshawe, was William's older brother, but didn't attend the College.