The above information has come from the 1968 Green Register but there seems some doubt as to whether this is accurate.

There is no reference on the Commonwealth War Graves Commission website of him having been killed during WW1 and in fact other research on the internet appears to show that he died in California in 1946 after marrying in 1903 in Lweisham. He appears to have had 4 children before moving to California and having his 5th and final child there in 1909. See next page.

It will remain a mystery why he is then on the College Chapel War Memorial.
